

Infrastructure Online

December 2012

Welcome to Preqin Infrastructure Online Product Update, our subscriber-only newsletter. This month we are delighted to inform you about the new and upgraded feature added to your Infrastructure Online service over the past month.

The current database features detailed profiles for over 1,700 investors actively investing in infrastructure via various routes to market, including commitments to unlisted and listed funds, direct investments, and debt financing strategies. The latest enhancement to Infrastructure Online is the Search by Previous Investments tool. This new feature allows users to produce a list of investors that have previously committed to specific types of unlisted and listed infrastructure funds, according to their known previous investments. Investors can be filtered by a variety of parameters, including:

- Investment strategy – Filter investors by the types of fund or types of strategies they have invested in previously.
- Investment focus – Search for investors according to the geographic or industry focus of their previous investments, and also the project stage of these commitments.
- Fund specifics – Filter investors by the size or vintage year of funds previously invested in, with a further option to exclude first-time funds.

The Search by Previous Investments feature provides an additional method of searching for potential investors for funds and will particularly benefit those actively engaged in marketing funds. The ability to quickly and easily identify a cross section of active infrastructure investors according to a list of bespoke criteria can be a key tool for fund managers which are actively seeking investors and want to quickly populate a list of potential LPs.

Infrastructure Online continues to be the most detailed and comprehensive information platform on the global infrastructure market, and is a key tool to help you in your business activities which now includes data on over 630 infrastructure funds and more than 350 infrastructure firms.
